ABSTRACT
The micro, small and medium enterprises (MSME) sector is the growth engine of the country and well recognized as an effective tool for the socio-economic development. There are approximately 49 million industrial units contributing 45 percent of manufacturing output, 40 percent of total exports and around 8% of the GDP of the country which provide better opportunities for employment. The enterprise or industrial units need assistance and support for their startup or expansion of businesses provided by various institutions. The assistance and support provided by different institutions are for varied purposes. This paper focuses on the identification of institutional support to MSME in Bihar.

KEYWORDS: MSME, Institutional Support System to MSME, Entrepreneurs, Institutions in Bihar

INTRODUCTION
The Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) sector is the backbone of the country’s economy as it is the principal contributor to manufacturing, exports and employment generation. In terms of value, there are approximately 49 million micro, small and medium enterprises (MSME sector) across the country in various industries and employing 111 million people.¹ The micro, small and medium enterprises (MSME) sector account for 45 percent of manufacturing out and 40 percent of total exports and around 8 percent of the GDP of the country.² The MSME sector is an effective tool for the socio-economic development and provides better opportunities for employment with relatively less capital involvement.

Despite of their commendable contribution to the economy (as shown in table 1), the MSME sector operate out of poor infrastructure, financial crisis, lack of proper planning and execution, limited market access etc. which create obstacles for them to achieve their optimum growth potential.

The support system provided by institutions play an important role to minimize the several hardships for the better growth of micro, small and medium enterprises (MSME) sector.

DEFINITION OF MSME SECTOR

The micro, small and medium enterprises are defined under Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises Development (MSMED) Act, 2006 and are classified in two classes as under:

Manufacturing Enterprises – The enterprises which are engaged in manufacture or production, processing or presentation of goods and are defined in terms of investment in plant & machinery.

Service Enterprises – The enterprises which are engaged in providing or rendering of services and are defined in terms of investment in equipment.

OBJECTIVES
1. To study the institutional support system to MSME in Bihar.
2. To find out the specialized support system provided by different institutions.
3. To suggest the measure for better and effective support system to MSME sector.

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY
This study is based on the secondary data only which has been collected from various journals, theses, books, brochures and websites.

MSME IN BIHAR
In Bihar, during 2007-08, 7202 units were registered under MSME. However, the number of units registered showed a decline in 2011-12 & 2012-13 and only 3962 units & 3737 units were registered respectively. During the first half of 2013-14 too, the emerging picture does not appear to be promising. In comparison to all-India figures, the investment and employment levels are rather low and it indicates that an overwhelming number of MSME units in Bihar fall under the category of 'small and tiny'.

INSTITUTIONAL SUPPORT TO MSME
The micro, small and medium enterprise (MSME) sector is the backbone of socio-economic growth of a territory. The contribution of MSME sector is over 90% of enterprises in most of the countries. As MSME sector contribute major share of industrial output and exports besides creating better employment opportunities, government policies play a crucial role for the growth of MSME sector. The government policies can not fulfilled without institutional support system.

The institutional support system is necessary for MSME sector, as micro, small and medium enterprises lack information about the current available support systems by central government as well as state government. This sector also lack the technical and managerial skills, strong financial background, knowledge about different facilities, subsidies, incentives etc. by central government and state governments.

The success of an enterprise depends on the support system provided by different institutions at different stages of the enterprise development. The types of supports which have been taken into consideration of this study are entrepreneurship development and training, financial support, technology support, marketing support, common facility centre and information & consultancy.

The institutions which provide support to MSME in Bihar are categorized as central support system, state support system and non-government support system. The main institutions are followings:

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

This study was focused on the support system provided by different institutions to MSME in Bihar. The MSME- DI of the office of Development Commissioner Micro, Small & Medium enterprises (MSME – DC) plays an important role for the overall growth of MSME Sector in the country. It has been found that the entrepreneurship development and common facility centre are the two important support provided by almost all the institutions. The major constraint of an enterprise is the lack of finance and this obstacle overcome by most of institutions except few. MSME-DI and NSIC provide support in all areas i.e. entrepreneurship development and training, financial support, technology support, marketing support, common facility centre and information & consultancy. Udyog Mitra is a helping desk which provide all information, available schemes, incentives, subsidies etc. for the development of industries in Bihar.

There are number of institutions which provide support system to micro, small, and medium enterprise in Bihar but no coordination among them. There should be a proper coordination among them through a centralized system. The support system should be simple, transparent and less time consuming. The institutions and government should encourage prospecting entrepreneurs through proper advertisements like banners, hoardings, social media advertisements etc. The government and policy makers should introspect the backwardness of Bihar in micro, small and medium enterprises (MSME) Sector.
